Sri Lanka: a Healthy Mindful Retreat

January 28th to February 3rd 2017

Following the success of the first retreat at Rosyth in January 2016 we will once again take a deep dive inwards with this yogic and mindful lifestyle retreat at the Rosyth Plantation in Sri Lanka. A dreamy "Jungle Book" location at 1000 feet where tea grows best--we too will grow, inwardly with a wellness program, vegetarian and ayurvedic cuisine, deep relaxation and laughter.

I am proposing an inner voyage in a far away land.

Our day starts with a glass of warm lemon juice, then waking up our body with yogasanas, our voice with chanting of sacred sounds and our minds with meditation. A mid-morning teaching on various subjects such as work-life balance, breaking down barriers, transitional moments, mindful being in the digital world will be held each day. In the afternoon, daily Yin Yoga (gentle, holding postures) followed by yoga nidra (profound relaxation) will be offered to release hidden tensions, explore sleep/dream patterns and create your intention for the New Year. Every evening we will finish with meditation practice. PLUS: For the early risers start off with a brisk, morning walk in the luxuriant fauna surrounding the plantation

From your lovely quarters, the front porch or seated in the balmy tropical garden, spend time doing nothing except watching the birds, listening to nature's sounds and awakening the sense of BEING. Nature is just the mirror of all that is within—this is what you will experience and remember.

There are 14 places for this retreat allowing me the time to give personal attention to each of you for an unforgettable and profound learning experience. I will teach mindfulness practices echoing from the ancient yogic practice called Antar Mauna. The yoga asanas are gentle and dynamic giving the proper wake up to the body and its subtle energies. All practices remain simple so one can take them home. This week is a gift to yourself, to initiate or jumpstart your own wellness program.

The Rosyth Estate is located in the Kegalle district, which is cradled within the central highlands of Sri Lanka, surrounded by mountains and lush forests, cave temples and well known for its spices, tea and rubber cultivation. The 1926 colonial plantation is perched high above its own tea and rubber estate which spans over 64 acres with magnificent views of its surroundings.

This exquisite retreat of blissful living in a peaceful and relaxing ambience, combining yoga practices to invigorate and replenish, meditation to calm and center, along with energy boosting activities and meals promoting glowing health and detoxification—what better way to jumpstart the new year?

Daily one hour teaching on topics such as : work-life balance, breaking down barriers, transitional moments, mindful being in the digital world, full plate-empty life syndrome...*

Spend free time immersing yourself in nature (as well as in the exquisite fresh water pool!). Explore the estate with its paddy fields, rubber trees and tea fields as well as local temples with guided morning walks. Also, take care of yourself with treatments to detox, energise or pamper your body, have advice from an ayurvedic practitioner and learn healthy tips in a vegetarian cooking class.
